

A LEGENDARY REPUTATION

The Club at Ibis, fresh off a $37 million investment in member amenities, averages one membership sale every three days.

WEST PALM BEACH, FLORIDA: When Henry Morrison Flagler, one of the original developers of South Florida, first visited the area in 1893, he exclaimed: "It's a veritable paradise." Flagler laid out his grand plan for the city and named many of the streets for native plants including banyan, myrtle, and poinsettia (now Dixie Highway).

After several booms and busts, West Palm exploded into a new era of progress with an influx of veterans relocating after World War II. It was the fourth fastest growing metropolitan in the United States during the 1950s.

The Club at Ibis, one of West Palm's well regarded private communities, is almost a small town in itself. Its 1,800 residents (living in 33 distinct neighborhoods) have access to a new $37 million Sports Village and Clubhouse complex, three Nicklaus courses, a huge practice facility, four pickleball courts, and 16 Har-Tru tennis courts with a sub-surface irrigation system.

A FAMILY TRIO

The Club at Ibis is the only private community that can boast three Nicklaus-family designed golf courses: the Legend, the Heritage, and the Tradition, created by Jack Nicklaus Sr., Jack Nicklaus Jr., and Steve Nicklaus.

Each has a slightly different feel. The Legend Course hosted The National Senior Club Professional Championship and the LPGA's Office Depot tournament. Golfweek named it one of the country's most distinctive courses, and Golf for Women rated The Heritage Course most women-friendly in America.

"I think it's kind of special that the three of us designed golf courses in the same community. Each stands on its own," said a pleased Jack Nicklaus. ■

A new clubhouse marked the culmination of a three-year, three-stage redevelopment and expansion.

The Club at Ibis is located within a 20-minute drive of the Palm Beach Airport, Gardens Mall, Eissey Theatre, beaches of Singer Island, and equestrian communities of Wellington. For more information on membership opportunities at The Club at Ibis, visit clubatibis.com, or phone (800) 741-4500.