“Colleton River is reminiscent of Cypress Point.” – JACK NICKLAUS

BLUFFTON, SOUTH CAROLINA: Analytic tools provide a flood of statistics to track on-course progress. Interestingly, PGA TOUR players get up and down when they miss a green roughly 60 percent of the time.

Colleton River epitomizes the best of life in the Lowcountry. “Our new practice facilities are unrivaled in the Southeast and reinforce our brand as the premier community on the water,” touted Tim Bakels, general manager. “The Practice Park is multifaceted. Features include a double-sided Nicklaus Practice Range [resurfaced with lush Celebration Bermuda grass]; Learning Center [including indoor and outdoor hitting bays]; Short Game Area [with multiple lie options and three greens]; and a Bruce Borland, 6-hole, Augusta-like par-3 course. While our teaching staff can’t guarantee you will match a Tour player’s data, we have the latest training aids in one of the most beautiful surroundings for you to work on your game.

“Golf is at the heart of Colleton River,” said Bakels. “Simultaneously, while the Practice Park was under construction, we renovated our Nicklaus Course. It’s hard not to fall in love with our lifestyle offering.”

WATER EVERYWHERE

Surrounded by water on three sides and bordered by a 1,100-acre nature preserve, members have access to the Intracoastal Waterway and the Atlantic Ocean. Amenities include Pete Dye and Jack Nicklaus Signature courses, two clubhouses, a large fitness center, a Junior Olympic swimming pool, and a Stan Smith tennis complex.

“We continue to invest on and off the course,” continued Bakels. “In January, we opened our renovated community dock that includes a newly designed kayak launch, fish cleaning station, and upgraded electrical with water and shore power capability.”

With two clubhouses, Colleton River’s facilities are ideal for social gatherings. “Our Colleton River Art Program also has a strong following. In order to create a forum for members to showcase their work, we established an ‘art wall’ in the Nicklaus Clubhouse to display the impressive paintings and sculptures created by our very own.” ■
