

Savoring the Good Life at MAYACAMA

The community, in the heart of Pinot Noir country, has more wine lockers than golf lockers.

SONOMA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA: Mayacama is a golf sanctuary tucked into a box canyon in the golden hills of “Old California” with a Jack Nicklaus Signature course that offers a hint of drama.

“Incredibly, it took 15 years for our community to become reality,” explained Ted Antonopoulos, golf professional at Mayacama. “It’s unlikely another club of its kind will ever be granted permits and entitlements in our area.”

THE BEST EXPERIENCE ON GRASS

Ted left the exclusive Fisher Island Club in South Florida to become Mayacama’s first golf professional. “I was intrigued with its possibilities,” recalled Antonopoulos. “Mayacama’s location, about a 45-minute drive from San Francisco, is manageable, yet makes you feel you are a world away.

“Since day one, the club’s cornerstones have been to offer a premier golf and wine experience. Along with the help of our world-class caddie program, we feel that we have accomplished our goal. Mornings are reserved for members walking with a caddie,” continued Antonopoulos.

“Mayacama has very few outside influences. The setting is peaceful with undisturbed surroundings,” described Jack Nicklaus “The club embraces everything special about the area—from the club’s vintner program to the wine cave just off the 18th green. It’s magnificent.”

VINTNER CUP

Many of Mayacama’s social events focus on taking full advantage of the wine country. “Our Vintner Cup is a good example. The tournament is similar to a Pro-Am, but at the draw party, you don’t select a professional, a local vintner rounds out your foursome,” said Antonopoulos. Instead of a ‘standard’ tee prize of a pair of golf shoes or monogrammed duffle bag, you receive a magnum of vintner team wine!” ■

Mayacama’s 40,000 square-foot clubhouse was inspired by the grandeur of Old World Mediterranean estates. Architecture imparts a balance of European elegance and casual California character.

Growing demand has warranted development of new real estate opportunities ranging from 1/10 ownership to Mayacama’s newest offering—villa ownership with an enticing lease-back option. Villas placed into its member rental program enjoy the benefit of all operating costs (including property tax and golf dues) being covered.
