

DID YOU KNOW? Both Forbes and Southern Living have named Bluffton a “Best Place to Retire.”

Berkeley Hall Golf Learning Center includes a 33-acre practice facility and four climate-controlled hitting bays.

“Berkeley Hall represents pure golf at its finest. I consider it one of the great communities in the Coastal Carolinas.” –TOM FAZIO

BLUFFTON, SOUTH CAROLINA: Originally from Waterford, Ireland, Adrian Morris, Berkeley Hall’s GM/COO, hails from a small coastal town about 30 miles south of Dublin. Perhaps that’s why Berkeley Hall Club, set along the waters of the Okatie River, was immediately such a welcoming setting. His charming Irish lilt is immediately evident during conversation. “Ironically, part of my career included a stint at NCR Country Club,” said Morris. “Not far from Dublin, [Ohio] that is!”

Today, Morris is quite at home at Berkeley Hall, a distinctive private golf community, located in the coastal Lowcountry between Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, and Savannah, Georgia.

“While we are known for our two world-class Tom Fazio courses, our club has so much more to offer. You’ll find our casually inviting and active lifestyle offers all the amenities you expect for a healthy lifestyle; a world-class spa and fitness center, the River Park, miles of walking trails and exceptional culinary options. Interestingly, one of our fastest growing activities is our kayaking club.”

Next year, Berkeley Hall will host the 2020 U.S. Women’s Mid-Amateur Championship.

“Mr. Fazio’s core routing is patterned after the classic designs of Riviera Country Club, Winged Foot, and Seminole—with a layout uninterrupted by any interior homes or roads,” explained Adam Kushner, director of golf. “Our coastal landscape and liberal use of native grasses make for something special. Bringing the best mid-amateur players to Berkeley Hall is a tremendous honor for us. It’s a pinnacle distinction that places us among the premier courses in the nation.”

A HERITAGE OF GREATNESS

Berkeley Hall is named after Lord Berkeley, one of five British generals awarded land holdings in America by the King of England in 1665.

“While every imaginable amenity is within minutes, one thing that remains the same is our dedication to open space,” said Morris. “With our Jeffersonian-style clubhouse and Fazio courses that form the ‘Core of the Community,’ Berkeley Hall is the lowest density private club in the Southeast. I like to refer to Berkeley Hall as a point where the river meets the sea. There’s no place I would rather be than on the clubhouse veranda as the sun sets over a canopy of century-old trees.” ■
