The club where phones get left behind.

MONTGOMERY, TEXAS (less than one hour north of Houston): When Bluejack National held its grand opening, the ultra-exclusive community could boast being the only private golf club in the nation with a Tiger Woods design. As the community matured, its amenities expanded to become one of the most forward thinking, family-friendly destinations in America.

“We are located in one of the fastest growing counties in Texas, and with one right turn to the recently opened Highway 249, you are a 40-minute straight shot to downtown Houston, yet feeling a world away,” exclaimed Brett Schoenfield, president and general manager at Bluejack National. “Our mission statement is inextricably tied to an inclusive family culture and sense of genuine service.

“I joined Bluejack during the start of the pandemic and immediately sensed the connection between members and staff. It’s a link that runs deeper here. Everyone is extended family without being overly familiar,” continued Schoenfield. “I am a believer in actions over words. So, we pay 90 percent of our staff’s medical insurance to provide an environment of safety and stability. Our position builds a platform for success and an attitude of genuine service.

“Our non-golf activities run the gamut from fishing to bowling. We even have a full-sized wiffle ball field to enjoy America’s pastime in the most unusual of ways,” said Schoenfield. “Several of our members are

Lake Villas, adjacent to The Fort, are ideal for residents with young children. The Retreats, a few steps from The Sanctuary Spa, will be favored by empty nesters.

The Fort, considered the epicenter of family life: Rated Golf Inc. Magazine’s amenity of the year. Access includes two pools, a 150-foot water slide, a field with goalpost, half-court basketball, mini wiffle ball Fenway Park, two pickleball courts, four tennis courts, a fishing lake, bowling alleys, and video game room.

former MLB players and when playing a friendly game on the field, their facial expressions exude giddy contentment.

“No matter your line of work, if you follow the Golden Rule to treat people the way you want to be treated, you will be rewarded with success,” concluded Schoenfield.

“Last year, we added more than 90 new members and now have a robust membership of 400 member families. It’s my job to make Bluejack National the most coveted club to get into and the easiest club to get out.” ■
