"Our Search for a Forever Home"

Hampton Hall Club – striking a balance between community and its Lowcountry surroundings.

BLUFFTON, SOUTH CAROLINA: "As retirement age neared, I was ready to trade my snow boots and ice scraper for golf shoes," said Jim Cadres, member and past president at Hampton Hall Club. "The thought of living in a climate with mild four season weather and year-round golf held great appeal.

"Our family traveled often to the Lowcountry for getaways. I guess you would say it was our vacation hotspot," continued Jim. "My wife and I decided coastal South Carolina was high on our radar to relocate. We toured all the private communities from Savannah to Hilton Head Island, a feat that isn't as straightforward as it seems. With small signage and tree-lined roads, it's easy to miss a turn. At the end of our odyssey, Hampton Hall in Bluffton stood out as the clear choice for us. Its location is 'off the beaten path,' without being 'off the beaten path.'

Bluffton has the quaint, small town feel we desired with all the services required for daily life plus entertainment and endless outdoor activities only minutes away. Referencing the script line in the hit movie Jerry McGuire, after a tour of Hampton Hall and its facilities, 'You had me at hello.'"

HAMPTON HALL CLUB offers more than 25 clubs within the club. From billiards to mahjong, there is a social circle for everyone.

CULTURE

Hampton Hall Club has wide-ranging amenities, including a Pete Dye Signature course, an expansive practice park, multiple dining options, large banquet facilities, modern fitness facilities with an indoor lap pool and spa, tennis, pickleball, bocce, and a resort-style pool. The community's family friendly atmosphere and varied social calendar provide an engaging lifestyle for multi-generations.

"I felt a purpose to contribute to the community, was successfully elected to the Board, and recently finished my > term as president," recalled Jim. "We had been a member-owned club for only a couple of years, so establishing protocols that weren't dictated by the developer was a priority. Our goals focused on the acronym, as developed by our GM/COO Loraine Vienne, CULTURE—Community United by Leadership and Teamwork with Unique, Relevant, and Engaging member experiences.

"As a lifelong salesman, I was well aware of the need to communicate and market our strategic plan to all homeowners," stated Jim. "As a golf optional community, we had to raise the bar to justify owning a golf membership. We accomplished our goals with our golf roster now at an all-time high.

"I'm a walker and regularly exercise four miles per day. One of my favorite routes is behind the clubhouse and around the club's large lake. The experience reinforces that I live in paradise and reminds me how grateful I am for finding our forever home in Hampton Hall."
