A HIGH COUNTRY HAVEN

pass in every season.*

PARK CITY, UTAH: The feel of a golf club is greatly impacted by the sound of a ball launching off the club-face. GolfWRX tested golfers wearing noise-canceling headphones. The result? It became difficult for them to distinguish any differences in feel from shot to shot.

The feeling at Talisker Club is equally challenging to measure. “Our Mark O’Meara designed golf course is named Tuhaye for a reason,” said Richard Seay, director of sales at Talisker Club. “The etymology of Tuhaye means ‘the good land’ in the language of the Ute. It couldn’t be more appropriate.”

WONDERS OF THE WASATCH

Talisker Club is among a rare collection of alpine communities in America. Members have access to a collection of five venues: Tuhaye, with an open Mark O’Meara championship course and short course; Empire Pass, with ski-in/ski-out access within Deer Valley Resort; Courchevel Bistro, a private lounge and dining facility on Main Street in Park City; The Outpost, a back-country playground at 9,000 feet in elevation; and Jordanelle Reservoir, with two club-owned power boats.

“Our location is a defining asset,” continued Seay. “Surrounding topography and strict entitlements are barriers to entry while access to the Salt Lake City Airport is rarely limited. We’ve had more than one member join Talisker Club after frequent wintertime flight cancellations into Sun Valley, Idaho, or Vail, Colorado.”

Tuhaye offers a captivating backdrop for tee shots that seemingly hang in the thin mountain air forever.

Empire Pass is the only ski-in/ski-out private club on the mountain.

Talisker Club has hit the necessary critical mass for success. “We carry no debt and amenities are paid for with cash on hand,” said a pleased Seay. “With more than $500 million in real estate sales and 92 percent of our inventory spoken for, we truly are your High Country haven.” ■

The Outpost offers members use of a fleet of snowmobiles and the second longest tubing hill in Utah. Enjoy hot chocolate in a warming hut set in the middle of an aspen forest.
