KINGSMILL RESORT

A Relaxing, Waterfront Escape

Home to 38 PGA and LPGA Tour events, Kingsmill golf is tour tested and player approved.

WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA: Despite all the social media and illusions of online connection, true friendship seems more challenging to find these days. Compared to 30 years ago, Americans are becoming more socially isolated and the number of close friendships we have is declining.

"This should be the year to reconnect with your social circle," said Robert Dudeck, golf sales manager at Kingsmill Resort. "Our accommodations [where everyone can stay under the same roof with a full kitchen and living room], 54 holes of championship golf [designed by Curtis Strange/Tom Clark, Pete Dye, and Arnold Palmer/Ed Seay], and river amenities [from pontoon boats to jet skis] create the perfect environment to reconnect.

"When it comes to Kingsmill, we're not just another resort, we're like another world. With our unparalleled range of accommodations, stunning James River setting, tournament-caliber golf, and a boundless range of recreational activities and leisure pursuits—including water sports at our full-service marina—right on the grounds, consider us your go-to luxury waterfront escape."

The River Course has hosted PGA TOUR and LPGA events for most of its history, dating back to 1981.

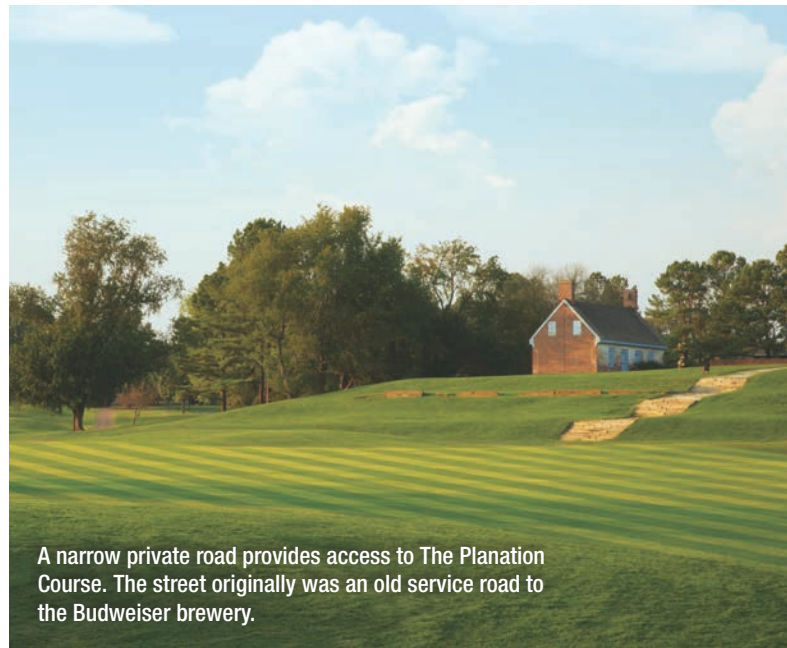

CENTRAL ACCESS

Kingsmill Resort was established by Anheuser-Busch just before America's bicentennial. Its 3,000-acre campus layout is void of a high-rise tower, crowded elevator banks, or indoor corridors.

"Access is one of our strongest selling points," advised Dudeck. "Our location is central to most major cities along the East Coast with three airports [Richmond, Newport News, and Norfolk] less than an hour away. If you live in the Mid-Atlantic, even Amtrak is an option with a train depot only 10 minutes from our lobby doors."

A narrow private road provides access to The Planation Course. The street originally was an old service road to the Budweiser brewery.

Cottages on the James, available for nightly rental, feature modern Cape Cod architecture. If you are looking for the pinnacle of luxury, consider The Estate at Kingsmill Resort, a 7,000 square-foot, four-bedroom mansion built by the Busch family.

The Women's Public Links Golf Association of Southern California consists of 2,000 avid golfers open to players of all skill levels. Each year, their "Far Away from Home" trip visits one of the country's top golf resorts. "Last year we targeted Kingsmill Resort," said Ingrid Siegel, travel coordinator of the organization. "Robert Dudeck couldn't have been more accommodative. He is the type of guy you can rely on. We start planning our excursions about 18 months in advance. Our criteria for selection are: multiple golf courses that are tournament proven, but not necessarily penal for our older demographics and non-golf amenities that inspire. The history of Williamsburg sealed the deal for us. We had an excellent turnout of 100 ladies who traveled cross-country for a week of competition and fun. It was the first time our group stayed in condo-like accommodations [versus regular hotel rooms] and we loved it."
