CABO SAN LUCAS, MEXICO: When Ken Jowdy, founder and developer of Diamante, first toured the site, the land was nothing but massive sand dunes with ocean views as far as the eye could see. “I was taking a tour of the desert property with the current owner in his Jeep Liberty, and I had to hold on for dear life as we traversed the topography with dunes the size of small buildings,” recalled Jowdy.

The first course designed by Davis Love III is appropriately named The Dunes Course. “We pride ourselves in its conditioning and ocean views,” continued Jowdy. “When you stand on the 12th green, you can’t help but marvel at the vastness of the Pacific Ocean.” Instead of cart paths made out of cement, repurposed railroad ties were used to keep a natural look.

Shortly after the grand opening of the Love course, Jowdy’s relationship with Tiger Woods started to blossom.

“Our business relationship has grown over the past decade,” said a pleased Jowdy. “We debuted his first design in the world [El Cardonal] in 2014, followed by his short course The Oasis [that you can literally play barefoot if you wish].”

THE NEXT CHAPTER

The Legacy Club is the latest development in Diamante’s evolution. “It will truly be a ‘private club within a private club’ that leverages Cabo’s gorgeous sunsets. We are transforming the existing gently sloped desert terrain into a strategic, dramatic Tiger design with a backdrop of rolling green hills and rich verdant landscaping,” said Michael Abbott, vice president of operations. ■

“I imagine Diamante mirrors what Dubai must have looked like a generation ago. It’s where the desert meets the ocean with a twist. Legacy Club members will have access to four golf experiences and one of the finest 14-acre practice facilities in the world, a fish camp, mercado, spa, a 1.5-mile beach, a 10-acre saltwater lagoon, and plentiful restaurants [with a special shout-out to Izzy’s].” — MARK PAZDUR, PUBLISHER OF EXECUTIVE GOLFER

Diamante is host to the annual World Wide Technology Championship, a PGA TOUR event that has distributed more total prize money than any other golf tournament in Latin America.
